Pando Winter Sports Park:

I have nothing but great memories of the World Championships of Snurfing at Pando. I remember packing all of our stuff into a van and getting the whole crew out there for the competition.

Despite the fact that the local participants weren't that thrilled to see our posse show up from Vermont we were made to feel welcome the minute we arrived and the vibe of the event was incredibly positive and communal.

While the equipment that we were riding at the time was prehistoric compared to what snowboarders compete on now, the enthusiasm that we all had for developing our sport and enjoying some friendly competition was as strong as it has ever been before or since.

Pando clearly played a huge role in the development of the competitive side of our sport, and for that I want to thank them. I look forward to the next opportunity I have to come shred the slope there.

Regards,
